Ref: Price Increase Notice

Dear valued customer,

Despite being affected by various cost increases such as rising global raw material prices in the semiconductor market, accompanying rising parts prices, rising transportation and labor costs, we continue to make corporate efforts to improve production and sales efficiency, and attempted to minimize the impact of these increased costs on our customers.

However, it became difficult to maintain the price while maintaining the same quality as before with our efforts alone.

Therefore, in order to continue to provide valuable products in the future, we are sorry to say that we increased the prices as follows:

1. Price increased product:

This applies to all products. We kindly ask you to request the quote for the new prices before sending the PO.

2. Implementation period:

Applied since April 1, 2022. Therefore, the new price will be applied from the next orders.

Currently, due to lack of inventory, L/T of many products has a longer delivery time. We kindly ask you to place an order well in advance to avoid future inconvenience.

We appreciate your understanding and cooperation.
Thank you for your support and continued business.

Yours sincerely,
